

Welcome to the Hargrave Military Academy summer program for 2010. It is our desire that each student realizes his goals and leave here at the end of the program proud of their achievements. In addition to the academic work they will perform, we hope that this short period of time will also boost the student's organizational skills, study skills and social skills. We expect a lot of our students, but we are also there to assist in attaining those expectations. Below are listed the names of those you will most likely have reason to contact during the summer term. Please never hesitate to call us when you have concerns that should be dealt with in a timely fashion.

Attached is a calendar for the summer and a copy of the rules and regulations for the student. We appreciate your confidence in Hargrave and hope that the summer will prove to be such a positive experience that you will want to return for the regular school year!

General Information about Hargrave

HMA Mission Statement

The purpose of Hargrave is to assist cadets of secondary school age to become knowledgeable, thinking, and responsible citizens of their community, nation, and world. Our educational program is based on rigorous instruction in basic skills and in preparation for further study in the arts and sciences. We believe that to be effective, the educational process must be reinforced by order, structure, and discipline, and we feel that the worth, potential and integrity of the individual must be promoted in every area of school life. For our students to mature spiritually, socially, emotionally, and physically, as well as intellectually, we must seek to achieve our goals within a healthy, wholesome environment, in which the Christian faith and principles pervade all aspects of the school program.

The School

Hargrave Military Academy has long been one of the South's leading military preparatory schools, with its primary mission being the preparation of young men and women for success in college. Over 90 percent of our graduates attend college. Many prominent business, educational, government, and military leaders, and clergymen can claim Hargrave as their foundation school.

Hargrave provides a very well-structured academic environment in which college-bound students can realize their potential. The military department works hand-in-hand with the academic office and the faculty in providing an organized program. The Academy believes that student involvement in athletic, spiritual, and various other extra curricular activities is also an important part of intellectual and social maturity.

The Academy is attractively situated on a beautiful 215-acre campus with woods, pastures, trails and ponds in the hills of the Piedmont region of southern Virginia. In addition to the extensive academic and athletic facilities, the campus has a skeet range, obstacle course and rappelling tower. The 50-meter indoor swimming pool is among the finest on the East Coast.

Summer Program

Hargrave offers a non-military summer program. Students can earn credit in two repeat and/or elective subjects or one new subject. As in the regular school session, all new students are required to complete a course in study skills. Selected English, math, history, science, reading, and college prep classes are offered.

A Brief History

Hargrave Military Academy traces its roots to the Chatham Training School, founded in 1909 by the Reverend T. Ryland Sanford, the pastor of Chatham Baptist Church, Mr. Jesse H. Hargrave, a mercantilist, and his son, Mr. J. Hunt Hargrave. During the 1909-1910 session, seventeen boarders and eighteen day students were enrolled at Chatham Training School.

On July 18, 1911, a formal charter was granted by the Commonwealth of Virginia for the Chatham Training School and was recorded in the Clerk's Office of Pittsylvania County. In 1913, the Baptist General Association of Virginia made its first gift to the school, and since that time the school has continued an affiliation with the association. The school was granted accreditation by the State Board of Education in 1917 and by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in 1920.

Although the Academy was repeatedly approved for Junior ROTC, the trustees, fearing that such a program would overemphasize the military and lessen the academic, decided that they preferred to operate under paragraph 55C of the National Defense Act, which enabled the school to place less emphasis on military instruction in the classroom. In response to appeals from patrons and students who were motivated by the country's involvement in World War I, military training was approved as part of the course of study.

In 1925, the name of the school was changed from Chatham Training School to Hargrave Military Academy. The change in name served two purposes. It corrected misunderstandings that anyone may have had about the type of applicant to be enrolled, and it established a memorial to Mr. J. Hunt Hargrave, whose sustaining interest, faith, and collateral security contributed greatly to the realization of the venture which was undertaken in 1909.

The junior school was organized as a separate department in 1925, and this led to the construction of the Junior School Building (renamed Floyd Hall in April 1964, in honor of Colonel E. A. Floyd), which was ready in September 1929, with four classrooms and ample space to house 50 Students.

World War I had little effect on the enrollment at Hargrave. In the depression years of 1931 to 1935, enrollment dropped from 186 to 122. The 1970's was the most trying time in modern history for military schools in general. Public opinion turned against military academies; many closed while others, including Hargrave, suffered losses of students. Following that low point, Hargrave enrollment turned upwards in 1977 and has increased to nearly 430 students.

Hargrave has achieved over a century of proven success in developing student scholarship, citizenship, and leadership. This success is made possible through the cooperation of an excellent caring faculty and staff and students who accept the opportunities provided here at the Academy. Your commitment to proper study, preparation and active participation will result in the personal success, which we believe should be the goal for each student.

Accreditation and Memberships

Hargrave Military Academy is accredited by the Virginia Association of Independent Schools (VAIS) and AdvancED (formerly the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS). The school is a member of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools of the United States (AMCSUS), the Virginia Association of Military Schools, the National Association of Independent Schools (NAIS), the Council for Advancement and Support of Education, and is affiliated with the Baptist General Association of Virginia.

Notice of Nondiscriminatory Policy as to Students

Hargrave Military Academy admits students of any race, color, national and ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national and ethnic origin in administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other school-administered programs.

Study Hall will be conducted in the student's room under supervision of a staff or faculty member. Every student is expected to follow the guidelines listed below.

1. The Summer School Dean will determine any special considerations for struggling students.
2. Students will be in their seats when the bell rings and will remain there for the study period.
3. There should be no talking.
4. There will be a 5-minute stretch break at the middle of the study hall period. During this time students may use the rest room and get water from the fountains. Students are expected to be back in their seats at the end of this break.
5. If a student needs assistance from a study hall supervisor, he should wait for the study hall monitor to arrive at their room and ask at that time. Students should not be out of their seats during study hall.
6. Students should have all of their assignments, books and materials prior to study hall. Student Planners should be open on the desk for the monitor to check during the study hall period.
7. If all work is completed to the supervisor's satisfaction, parallel assignments may be used. Students should not be writing letters. If they do not have appropriate work for study hall, they should use the time to review, work practice test, study ahead, etc.
8. Classroom dress standards apply.
9. All work will be performed by the individual student without interaction with other students. There will not be any student group work nor student tutoring during this time without express permission of the Summer School Dean.

XXVI. Technology Acceptable Use Policy

Hargrave Military Academy's purpose in providing access to electronic information sources is to support enhanced learning and research in an effort to graduate students of honor and integrity and to encourage those students to use resources in an ethical and responsible manner. In making decisions regarding student and staff access to information resources, HMA considers its own stated mission, goals, and objectives. The use of technology at HMA is a valuable educational resource for all. It is the result of a tremendous amount of time, money and commitment invested by HMA.

HMA will not be liable for the users' inappropriate use, either on site or off site, of HMA's electronic communication resources or violations of copyright restrictions, users' mistakes or negligence, or costs incurred by users. HMA will not be responsible for ensuring the accuracy or usability of any information found on the Internet. HMA intends for electronic communication resources to be operational during all designated hours, but with technology there is no guarantee; therefore, HMA is not responsible for loss of information.

The student is expected to follow all guidelines stated below, as well as those given orally by the staff and to demonstrate ethical behavior that is of the highest order in using the network facilities. Students are also expected to realize that the opportunity to use the technology goes hand in hand with the responsibility to use all resources properly. Access is a privilege, not a right. Access entails responsibility.

Since access to networks by students is a privilege, any actions that might harm the computer equipment or software, impair their effective use, or show disregard for the proper procedures set up for network access, will NOT be tolerated. If a student's behavior is found to be inappropriate, he or she may lose some or all of these privileges. Computer users should be aware that the school computers, server storage, e-mail use and Internet use may be monitored at any time and subject to administrative review at any time; there should be no expectation of privacy using the school's computer system. HMA reserves the right to remove anything that is deemed inappropriate from any HMA computer and server storage. HMA's goal is to protect its resources so that they will be available for all users. Any User (including the User's parents if the User is a student), by use of HMA's electronic communications resources, agrees to indemnify and save and hold harmless HMA from any liability arising from any such uses by the User.

The major purpose of the installation of HMA network, access to the Internet, and the electronic mail system is to enhance learning and communication for the members of the HMA community. The use of appropriate software for general or specific curricular purposes is expected. Research on the Internet, submission of assignments via e-mail, and sending e-mail to teachers, experts in various fields of study, friends and family is encouraged.

The Information Technology staff will monitor Internet use and will do so routinely. The IT Department has installed site blocking software, as well as a filtering device. Since Internet access is filtered, any student may petition their teacher to have a site unblocked to do approved, legitimate, academic research. Regardless of blocking technology which can never keep up with new sites or make all the correct judgments about appropriateness, the final responsibility for proper use lies with the student for NOT pursuing material that could be considered offensive AND for reporting the presence of such material to an adult.

Students should never allow others to use their account name and/or their password. Violation of this rule could jeopardize everyone's access to the Internet, and students who violate this rule will immediately lose all network and computer access. USE OF ANOTHER'S ACCOUNT OR PASSWORD IS CONSIDERED AN HONOR VIOLATION AT Hargrave Military Academy and will be dealt with by the Honor Council.

Recent news accounts have shown that abuse of chatrooms, other real-time communications and email can lead to serious crimes. Students are strongly encouraged never to divulge personal contact information, including names, photographs, home and school addresses or telephone numbers, social security numbers or credit card information in any electronic format. BE CAREFUL!

Violations/Sanctions: As with any disciplinary and honor violations at Hargrave Military Academy, enforcement of this policy depends on the responsible actions of all members of the community. Any User violating these provisions or applicable state and federal laws is subject to loss of network privileges and any other disciplinary actions deemed necessary by HMA, including criminal prosecution.

In conjunction with the IT Department, the Academic Dean, Commandant, or President will make the final determination as to what constitutes unacceptable use. Their decision is final.

Student E-mail Instructions

All students have access to e-mail. In order to access the Hargrave computer network for e-mail, Internet, research or accessing software, the student must enter login name and password. Login name is their last name plus first initial unless someone else already has that same login. In case of duplicate logins, a single digit such as 2 or 3 will be attached to the end of their login. The student's login name and password (a six digit computer generated number) are printed on the E-mail instruction sheet distributed to students during matriculation. Students must memorize their own password and not allow anyone else to know their password. Students will be held responsible for any inappropriate activity occurring on a computer logged in under their name. If students lose the sheet with their login name and password before memorizing it, they should report to the Technology office to obtain another copy.

Logon and E-mail Instructions:

1. At the Novell Login screen type your login name where it says "Username:" and your password where it says "Password:"
2. To access your E-mail, double click on the GroupWise icon on the desktop. Once you have read your mail and/or printed it, please delete it and empty the Trash.
3. To empty the trash, right click on the Trash icon in the GroupWise window and select Empty Trash. Then answer Yes to the question that appears.

ANY VIOLATION OF THE ACCEPTABLE USE POLICY REGARDING E-MAIL WILL RESULT IN LOSS OF NETWORK PRIVILEGES AND COULD RESULT IN DISMISSAL!

Parent E-mail Instructions

All students have access to e-mail. During matriculation, students and parents are given information sheets containing all the necessary information to enable use of this service. The information sheet for parents has the student's email address.

Students must memorize their own password and not allow anyone else to know their password. Students are held responsible for any inappropriate activity occurring on a computer logged in under their name. If students lose the sheet with their login name and password before memorizing it, they should report to the Technology office to obtain another copy.

Any violation by a student of the Technology Acceptable Use Policy regarding e-mail will result in loss of network privileges and could result in dismissal.

E-Mail Instructions:

Student's e-mail address is their last name first initial@hargrave.edu.

Example: bakerw@hargrave.edu

If two or more people have the same last name and first initial, a single digit such as 2 or 3 is attached to the end of the second or third identical login.

Example: bakerw2@hargrave.edu
